BONE-GATHERING IN THE VALLEY OF THE ARKANSAS.—Says a correspondent of the Kansas City Journal: "During the winter and spring hundreds of settlers along this valley have supported their families by gathering up buffalo bones and hauling them to the towns. The prairies for forty miles each way from the railroad have been gleaned over till not a relic of the chase can be found. Heads and ribs are worth five dollars a ton. These are shipped to Philadelphia and ground up into fertilizers. Hips and shoulder-blades are worth ten dollars a ton; these go to the sugar-refineries. The horns are worth thirty dollars; the tips are sawed off here and sent to the factories of umbrellas, fans, pipes, etc; the remainder is used up by the chemists. Bits of hide found hanging to the heads are taken off and sent to the glue factories. Every fragment of these animals is made to serve a purpose. The trade has been opportune for the settlers, as it brought them the means of a livelihood when the crops failed; otherwise they would have been compelled to abandon their homesteads.

THE BEECHER-TILTON CASE.

Proceedings in the Jury Room.

NEW YORK, July 3.—Voluminous published interviews with the Beecher jury develop interesting facts. One juror says the first test vote, taken soon after they retired, stood nine for defendant and three for plaintiff. Those voting for the plaintiff were Jeffrey, Flate and Davis. The second ballot stood ten to two, and then eleven to one, four or five successive ballots standing in this manner. Unfortunately, it was proposed at this stage of the proceedings to debate the question. If this had not been done, I believe we should have agreed during the first afternoon we were fresh from the jury box, where we had just heard the judge's charge, and undoubtedly had a clearer idea of the essential points in the case than after the confusion occasioned by a prolonged discussion. The great trouble was that there was such a volume of evidence submitted that it was impossible to remember all of it, and when we attempted to refer to any part the question arose whether or not we had quoted it correctly. This is why we sent for the printed testimony and the judge's charge, and we all very much regretted when it was first refused. As we continued to ballot the first day we advanced more and more toward an equal division of the jury, until we finally stood, at a certain ballot, six to six. This was not done at a time when it could be considered a test vote, showing the actual standing. It was done to draw, or rather to show the leaders of the minority that their argument had received consideration. After this we again went back to the original position of nine to three, and during the remainder of our confinement whenever a ballot was taken we stood either nine to three or eight to four. After half a dozen ballots at nine to three, some one would vary the monotony by voting on the other side, and it would stand for a while at eight to four, then again would return to the original number.

Other jurors confirm the statement that variations in ballots were caused by efforts at conciliation of Jeffreys, the intimate friend of Moulton and friend of Tilton, who, Beecher declared a week ago, was the only juror who invariably voted for plaintiff. He was leader of the minority. Except for him the jury would have agreed to a verdict for Beecher on Wednesday. Davis Flate, who voted with Jeffreys, was generally recognized as light weights.

Juror Thayer's indignant protest yesterday, that the jury did not stand eleven to one, proved to have been provoked by hearing a newsboy on the street cry that the jury stood eleven for Tilton. Jurors concur that the final ballot was nine to three, and represents the average views of the jurors, though two of them were very weak in their adherence to the minority. One of the jurors states that toward the last even Jeffreys showed inability to arrive at any satisfactory conclusion. He adds that he believes if they had remained out longer a unanimous verdict for Beecher would have resulted, the Beecher men being decided and firm, while the minority were constantly wavering.

NEW YORK, July 3.—The point most frequently discussed by the jury was Mrs. Tilton's alleged confession. The majority held that it only covered the charge of improper solicitation, and that the charge was untrue. The principal difficulty all through grew out of the differences as to credibility of witnesses, and chiefly Tilton's. Juror McMurn says, flatly, we did not consider the Moulton testimony worth much attention. Being questioned on what ground the majority discredited Tilton, he replied that Tilton was not a man to be trusted. His life, as shown in the evidence, proved that question, and in the same way as to the jury's estimate of Moulton; he said we threw aside his evidence as not worth considering. In regard to the arguments of the Tilton jurors on this point, McMurn said they didn't seem to have any. Another point considered of great importance by the jury was Mrs. Moulton's account of the interview between herself and Beecher, whereat, according to her testimony, Mr. Beecher confessed adultery. The defence advanced an alibi to show that Beecher was at Peekskill that afternoon, and could not have held the alleged interview at the time and place sworn to. The decision at which the jury arrived was singular. All agreed that Beecher was at Peekskill on the afternoon of the day on which Mrs. Moulton testified he was at her house. The majority thought Beecher could not have been at Moulton's house after 12 o'clock in the day, but the minority considered that the alibi was not proved, and no unanimous verdict was arrived at on this point. The testimony of Bessie Turner was, on the whole, received favorably. The chief fault found with it was that it was a little too highly colored, but the substance of it was accepted as true. Nor was there unanimous agreement as to the true meaning of the ragged edge letter. The jurors generally, denounced Beach's imputation about improper influences, and approved Juror Hall's public resentment of them. Flate says Hall spoke on his own responsibility, but that the jury were indignant at Beach's implied charge that they had been approached by Beecher's friends. Flate knew of no such approaches nor any signalling of the jury.

Speculations about a New Trial.

The general impression is that Tilton will not press for a new trial, but that the defense will renew the fight in a different form at the autumn session of the court.

Since Beach declares he is not likely to be further connected with the case, as he had given it all the time he could spare, he would advise Tilton not to press the matter further.

Evarts telegraphs Beecher thus: "Do not hesitate to regard the result as a complete triumph of truth. A few days will show the dissent is but the emphasis of the real verdict. I hurry off to Windsor to be back next week. My profound homage to Mrs. Beecher and my hearty congratulations to you.

What the Press Thinks of the Result.

The Tribune says Tilton risked everything—family, fortune, reputation and peace of mind to crush his adversary, and the discharge of the jury was the announcement of his failure. Yet he has good cause for satisfaction that the result was no worse. He has broken up his home and discarded his wife, for whether she is innocent or guilty, he clung to her until it became necessary to cast her off in order to strike Beecher. He has sacrificed the good opinion of the world and spent his last dollar, all for nothing. But if Beecher had been triumphantly acquitted Tilton would have gone down into the abyss of ruin and infamy without a gleam of hope. That fate he has perhaps escaped, and it is only to save him from that fate that his counsel have recently been fighting.

The World says the great Brooklyn scandal has ended as it began, in a moral quagmire, out of which no man can hope to find his way and live unsmirched, save along the solid unmistakable path of an honest masculine contempt for Beecher's accusers. Such was the character of Beecher's accusers that even to listen to them anywhere outside of a court of justice was to put in peril the value of public opinion itself. How can an honorable and high spirited man be expected to prize and seek the good of the community, when having won, he finds it of so little solidity that it may blow about him in stifling vapors by the foul breath of a pair of rascals who own themselves to be uncontrolled by the conventional laws of honor or by the natural instincts of manhood. The World characterizes the jury's disagreement as beyond all question, a substantial verdict of acquittal for the defendant. No man in any suit can be decently held to prove his innocence.

The World further remarks: "Tilton continued for several years after the alleged discovery of his dishonor to maintain intimate relations with his wife and Beecher. This gave him daily and hourly opportunities of surprising, not the conscience only, but the conduct of both, and yet, as Judge Neilson's charge made clear, the accuser utterly failed to produce one single shred of positive, direct evidence—nothing but mere presumption, and on Beecher's part most voluntary evidence, to support the accusation upon which his whole case rests. The jury admit this by their disagreement, and admitting this, the jury practically acquit the defendant of the charge brought against him in this trial. On the other hand, the trial has revealed a thousand things which more than justify the profound interest long felt by thousands of thoughtful and conservative minds of the moral methods and religious theories of Beecher and Beecher's school. Beecher stands substantially acquitted of adultery with Mrs. Tilton, but he stands also substantially convicted of enabling Tilton to bring such an accusation with plausibility, by his loose and heedless disregard of the conditions which sober and law-respecting men observe in the formation and establishment of their social and personal relations in life." The World also condemns Beecher for consulting only his own personal sentiments and convenience and emergency, which really involved much wider interests, instead of instantly repelling the scandal. He fell to arguing, sympathizing, compromising with his assailants. The aid of the able lawyers who defended him was scarcely needed to overthrow the specific charge brought against him, but not even these lawyers can clear him in public opinion of the hardly less grave and more widely mischievous offense of dealing with a public outrage as if it were a private wrong.

The Times reviews the whole case with an evident leaning against Beecher, which it don't avow.

NEW YORK, July 3.—The Herald, referring to Beecher, says: "It is a great tribute to his great qualities that this man, good or bad as you may believe him, has so taken hold upon the hearts and affections, admiration and sympathies of the people, that no little pool of thought can be looked upon anywhere in the wide limits of this land, but it reflects him pleasantly; no echo can be awakened but has a voice to champion his cause, and declare faith in his purity. That he should be sustained with almost the devotion of personal love is an evidence of the impression he has made on his time, of the gracious and gentle aspect in which he appears to the people." Nevertheless, the Herald thinks he has failed to establish his innocence, just as Tilton failed to prove his guilt, but Tilton has justified his position. More than this he can scarcely promise himself. He can never make a case that will give public sympathy to a person of his exceptional demeanor, for the people cannot be less pleased to contemplate whited sepulchres of fashionable pulpits, than they would be gratified at even the apparent triumph of a man of Tilton's type.

Future Movements.

NEW YORK, July 3.—In regard to the Tilton-Beecher trial, Pearsall, of counsel for Tilton, to-day said he could give no information in regard to further movements in the case, and returned the same answer to a specific inquiry as to the truth of the report that an attempt would be made by Tilton to have Tracy indicted for perjury.

Shearman said he believed there was no foundation for the report that measures would be taken to arrest Moulton, in connection with the Loeder-Price affidavits.

Making the Most of It—What Tilton's Counsel Say.

Beach says the disagreement is as good as a verdict for six cents, which was all that was ever aimed at, inasmuch that it shows Tilton has relieved himself of the calumny and aspersion that found early vent in Plymouth church circles, in investigating committees and in Bacon's letters.

Beecher Considers it a Vindication.

Beecher looks upon the result of the trial as giving him all the vindication it was in the power of the court to give. For his chief vindication he looks to the future. "I am," said he, "good for 20 years' work yet, and before that is done malice will have spent itself, ignorance will have become informed, and misconceptions of character will be corrected." Being asked what he thought of the malignity displayed by some of his ministerial brethren, Beecher made many excuses for their conduct, and added: "If I strike back I shall never strike but once. I don't want to quarrel, and I shan't if I can avoid it, but I don't by any means propose to be led like a lamb to the slaughter."

EARTHQUAKE.

Particulars of the Terrible Earthquake in Colombia.

Ten Thousand Persons Perish in the City of Cuenta Alone.

Many Thousands Wounded—The People Starving.

Mail advices from Barranquille, United States of Colombia, bring additional accounts of the destructive earthquake at Cuenta. The story of the catastrophe is confirmed in all its horror and details. A private letter dated Salazar, May 25th, says the number of dead is calculated at three-quarters of the entire population. A few families which were saved are now on the outskirts of the city, or what was the city, living on what they can procure, but they will soon be obliged to retire, as the putrefaction of the dead will not allow them to remain. It is heartrending to see the wounded who cannot remain alive long in their present condition. Four hundred mules were killed in the streets, and as there is no one to remove them the stench is becoming frightful. The villages of San Cristobal, Tarina, Guasimo, Capacho, San Antonio, Labatera, San Juan de Orefia, Rosino and San Cayetano are completely destroyed. The storehouse of Puerta De Los Cachos was sacked and burned by bandits.

Another letter says such was the violence of the shock that not a single house remained standing, and monuments in the cemetery were thrown down and many of them removed to a great distance from their original site. In thirty minutes the city of Cuenta was converted into a mountain of ruins. The horrible blow resulted in the death of more than 10,000, in addition to other thousands who were seriously wounded and bruised. A great number of "haciendas" have been destroyed and hundreds of houses in the country overthrown, leaving people houseless and consigned to poverty. Many trees were torn up and small hills opened like melons. The cause of the great catastrophe is unknown and the precise place of its first manifestation. Some suppose that the volcano of Chatera, which was in action in 1818, is again breaking out, while others say a new volcano has appeared in the hills of Giracha. It is thought government will appoint a scientific commission to investigate the nature of the catastrophe.

Private information from Bucara Manga, May 24th, says in Piedecuesta the town hall was destroyed, and in Pampaluma the cathedral was destroyed.

A telegram from Hon. Aguilee Parra to President Perez, dated Bucaramaga, May 24, says the earthquake continued, and last night the cathedral in Pampaluma fell. There is great alarm and great devastation throughout the valley of Cuenta.

A dispatch to President Perez, from Chinacota, May 24, says the population of San Jose Rosano and San Cayetano have disappeared and the rest of the department is in ruins. There were more than 4,000 victims.

A dispatch from Serro, dated May 24, says the situation assumes a grave aspect, and sickness and starvation in Pampaluma are increasing.

A telegram from Chiguinquira, of May 22, says the shocks are repeating. Two last night, one to-day. There is great alarm among the people. Appeals for help were being circulated through all the cities and most liberal responses were made.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

The Insulters of the American Consul Punished.

LONDON, July 3.—Chinese advices say several foreigners were arrested in Pekin. The native soldiers who insulted the American consul and wife, and made hostile demonstrations against the British consulate at Chin Kiang, have been punished.

Heavy Failures.

There have been several heavy failures, caused by the suspension of Alex. Collie & Co.

A Prize which the American Team Lost.

DUBLIN, July 3.—The shooting for the "All Ireland Challenge Shield," took place at Dolly Mount to-day. The competitors were four from each Dublin, Belfast and New York clubs; ranges, 1,000 and 1,100 yards, in each of which every participant had 20 shots. The shield was won by the Dublin marksmen, the score standing Dublin, 569; Amateur, New York, 558; Belfast, 528.

A Tie between the American and Irish Teams.

The match for the Freeman's Journal cup to-day resulted in a tie between Fulton, of the American team, and Doyle, of the Irish. The tie is to be decided by shooting at ordinary targets.

The Shooting for Ireland Challenge Shield.

In the closing matches to-day Wilson, of the Belfast club, won the Wilkes cup. Coleman and Gildersleeve, of the American team, made four bulls-eyes each at 500 yards. In the contest for the hundred guinea cup, Coleman won the final shot, but the cup goes to Gildersleeve under the rules, as Coleman won the Spencer cup. A strong and irregular wind blew during the shooting.

Distribution of the Prizes.

There was an immense crowd present at the exhibition which took place to-night for the distribution of prizes, which included badges for each member of the American team.

Lord Mayor Leech and Sir James Mackey made speeches congratulating the Americans on their victory. Mayor Leech said the victory would serve as an additional tie between the two countries.

Gildersleeve responded and thanked the Lord Mayor and all others in Dublin and Ireland generally for their warm hospitality and generous applause that had been accorded his countrymen, and assured them that the occasion would never be forgotten by Americans.

At the conclusion of his remarks, he presented an elegant cup of American silver and manufacture, to be shot for annually by the Irish riflemen. The gift was enthusiastically received.

On Monday, the American party will make an excursion to county Wicklow. A garden party in honor of the American team was given this afternoon by Vernon at Clontarf Castle. There was a large attendance of nobility and gentry present.

Vigorous Fighting in Spain.

MADRID, July 3.—Jovellar has established three batteries 400 meters from Cantaviega, and the place is being vigorously attacked. The position of Gen. Dorregarey is critical. Gen. Martinez Campos has closed all avenues for the escape of Carlists into Catalonia.

Shipping.

LONDON, July 3.—Arrived at Falmouth, the bark Jacques Cœur, from San Francisco.

Sailed from Liverpool, the ships Western Shore and R. D. Fuller.

Consequences of the Inundation.

LONDON, July 5.—The Standard's special dispatches report thirty-five bridges destroyed by the recent floods in the south of France. The rains continue heavy and incessant.

The Fourth in Paris.

The leading Americans have prepared to celebrate the anniversary of the Declaration of Independence to-day at Crystal Palace. Minister Schenck presides, and M. L. Carpenter will open the proceedings at 5:30 P. M., and introduce Schenck, who delivers an address. Among the gents who will be called on to respond to toasts are Mr. Freeman, H. Morse, Gen. Wm. Stokes, Colonel Farney and McCulloch Torrens, M. P. The meeting will be followed by a display of fireworks, concluding with a magnificent illumination representing the U. S. centennial exhibition.

A Kentucky paper, the Greenup Independent, says: "Daniel Feathers, a farmer living three miles below town, had the misfortune last week to be bitten by a copperhead snake. Without hesitation he pulled out his jack knife, cut the bitten spot out of his hand, and then struck a bee line for town, where Dr. Sellards dressed him externally as well as internally, and he is as well as ever, excepting a slight swelling of the injured limb."

Each ship of the Arctic expedition was supplied with pigeons similar to those used in the Franco-Prussian war. Part of these birds are to convey messages from the sledge to the Alert; the others to communicate with the Discovery.

PACIFIC COAST NEWS.

CALIFORNIA.

Details of the Last Defalcation.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 3.—The Bulletin this evening published the details of startling developments in the case of Miller, the defaulting secretary of the Western Division Company, which show the name of the so-called Miller is Woodruff. He has a wife and family living in New York, with whom he has kept up correspondence in his proper name, sending letters by way of Australia, where his wife supposed him to be. The amount of his defalcation is expected to prove much greater than at first supposed; probably from a half million to a million dollars. The company have discovered a large lot of English securities into which he had turned a portion of the abstracted funds. They also found a great number of apparent sales of property to Woodruff, being simply transfers to himself. The company still preserve much reticence concerning the affair.

The Oakland Scandal Case Revived—A Strange Conspiracy which Ends in a Libel Suit.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 3.—The Post this evening publishes a narrative of nine columns, purporting to be the true story of the circumstances connected with the troubles of Rev. Mr. Parshall, of Oakland, some two years ago. Parshall was tried by a church council in October and November, 1873, for lascivious conduct with certain members of his flock, was convicted and left town, going to Vallejo, and finally settling at Healdsburg, Sonoma county. On the 28th of October last the community were startled by a report that P. H. Sumner, real-estate agent, who had been a prominent member of Parshall's church at Oakland, had been a victim to attempted assassination and was taken to his home severely wounded. He kept his bed for several weeks, being attended by friends and a physician and interviewed by a reporter. He showed anonymous letters warning him of harm if he did not stop his persecution of Parshall, and finally made an ante-mortem statement that he was waylaid by two men on the night in question, and on his refusing to sign a compact to set Parshall all right, was attacked as before mentioned. Instead of dying after this statement, Sumner went East with his family. During his absence Parshall commenced suit against the Post for the publication of Sumner's ante-mortem statement. Sumner returned in May last and said he had obtained a good deal of information about Parshall, in the East, which would help the Post in the libel suit. He called on Col. Barnes, who was conducting the case for the Post, and showed him a number of anonymous letters which he claimed to have received during September, 1874, all breathing a spirit of hostility on account of his opposition to Parshall. Subsequently he told Barnes he had discovered the man who attacked him, and within a day or two brought to Barnes' office a man named Purves, who acknowledged having committed the assault on Sumner at the request of Parshall; that Parshall was an old friend of his and had worked on his sympathies until he consented to commit the deed. Purves also named as his accomplice one J. C. Rogerson, of Oakland, a clerk in the employ of Bowen Bros. He showed letters purporting to be from Parshall, relative to the contemplated assassination, which were in the same hand as those produced by Sumner. Capt. Lees, detective, was called into the case and made a critical examination of Purvis and the whole affair. He found discrepancies which aroused his suspicions, and the upshot of the whole matter is that Purves, and subsequently Sumner, on being confronted with evidence, have finally confessed that the whole affair, including the injuries received by Sumner, the anonymous letters received by him, and supposed correspondence between Purves and Parshall, was a conspiracy to ruin Parshall. The Post was informed of the disclosures on account of their bearing on the libel suit instituted against it by Parshall on Monday. Parshall was notified by telegraph. On his arrival on Tuesday it was determined to proceed at once against Sumner, and this morning suit was commenced against him in the 12th district court by Parshall with damages set at $50,000 for libel contained in the so-called ante-mortem statement.

A MICA BONANZA.

The Salt Lake Tribune thus speaks of a very rich mine of mica just discovered close by that city:

"The mica mines are situated in North Mill Creek Canyon, about five miles from the line of the Utah Central Railroad. The belt is about 1,000 feet in width and 1,000 feet in length, lying in a granite foundation, through which the mica is distributed in large quantities.

"Sheets have been obtained 3 by 4 inches, and abundance of the article can be obtained of that size. Development will doubtless open beds from which sheets of any size can be taken. A fine graded road runs from the railroad to the mines. The stream carries water sufficient to run forty stamps. Wood is to be found in inexhaustible quantities within one to two miles from the mines. The fortunate owners are Jerome Cross, Doc. Smith, and the Gray boys.

"The uses to which mica are put are almost numberless, a few of which we will mention: 1st. In sheets, for headlights in vessels, fronts in stoves, and in other places where it is exposed to severe heat or other agencies that would destroy glass. 2d. It is pulverized and used largely in the manufacture of bronze, paints, and coatings for reflecting surfaces, such as locomotive headlights, reflectors, and mirrors. Its value is, in sheets of various shapes and sizes, from 2 by 4, 3 by 5, etc., up to 10 by 12, and 12 by 15, from $5 to $9 50 per pound. In small masses, suitable for pulverizing, from 75 cents to $2 50 per pound, according to the quality.

"The amount in sight was almost incredible. Thousands of tons are in view, and the boys informed our reporter that they can easily ship a car-load per week with a working force of four men. A car-load (10 tons) of the lowest-priced sheets would bring the neat little stake of $60,000. Taking it all in all, we unhesitatingly pronounce it one of the most valuable discoveries, both in a scientific and pecuniary point of view, yet made in the Territory. Analyses of specimens sent to San Francisco and New York prove this to be the genuine mica of commerce."

J. N. DOLPH, GENTLEMAN.

[From the Washington Independent.]

In his speech against the new board of directors for the west-side road in the circuit court in Portland, J. N. Dolph denounced the people of Washington and Yamhill counties, and said that they wished to destroy this road built for their benefit! "Stockholders!" he exclaimed with infinite disdain; "stock that they bought with oats, and hay and stubble!" But didn't H. Y. Thompson, in reply, skin this incorrigible ass!

Who is J. N. Dolph? some of our readers may ask. A pompous, fashionable legal sharp, of the firm of Hipple, Dolph, etc. Hipple manages Holladay's business in Washington and Dolph in Oregon. He is the fellow that sinches the west side road out of $5,000 a year as attorney for Holladay.

This codfish aristocrat sneers at the farmers and mechanics who own stock in the westside road. He denounces them because he hates honest men, and men that earn their bread by manual toil. He denounces them in the interest of the gang who have gobbled their property and who own no stock in the road. He denounces them for $5,000 a year, extorted from the actual owners of the road. Such is J. N. Dolph, gentleman!

The returns of passengers transported by the different railroad companies whose roads enter Boston, for the day preceding the Bunker Hill celebration, footed up over 200,000.

THE BUNKER HILL CELEBRATION.

[From Bayard Taylor's Letter to the N. Y. Tribune.]

BOSTON, June 14.—My experiences of travel began before leaving the Grand Central station in New York. One who buys his ticket at the agency in the Fifth Avenue hotel, and pays for the telegram which is to secure him a berth in the sleeping-car, naturally expects to find a berth awaiting him; but such was not my fortune. Inasmuch as this is my second experience of the kind this spring, my case is probably one of many hundreds—or thousands. Have we any redress? I merely ask for information. An obliging conductor made the matter good, and when I saw our cheerful Vice-President enter the car I knew that our train could meet with no accident on the way. He had been over-turned and well shaken the very evening before, and the doctrine of chances which secured him against a second accident within twenty-four hours, covered the fates of his fellow-passengers. So the train rolled smoothly through the night, and we all slept in peace.

When morning and Boston broke together upon us, I was glad to see several Southern faces among the travelers. One gentleman, in fact, boldly proclaimed his Texan citizenship. I am sure that he and that pair of dark-eyed, dreamy Carolina faces which I noticed, will not be the least welcome among the Centennial guests. There will be no formal receptions until to-morrow, when visitors will begin to arrive in bodies; but sky, air and sun, to-day, are a single broad welcome to everybody.

This staid old town was never so fair, so sparkling. The streets have been clean washed by Saturday night's rain, the foliage on the Common shows the fullest tropical flush of June, banners are beginning to bud and unfold from the masts and house-tops, and a holiday abandon already creeps over faces wont to be rigidly prim and serious. The gilded dome of the State-house does not blaze like those of the Russian cathedrals, but its edge shows a warm, mellow luster against the sky. The entire front of the building has been draped with flags during the day, and very charming effects are being produced in the Common by hanging strings of the banners of all nations across the arches of the elm trees. In fact, color will be a chief feature of the celebration, and it will quite transform the aspect of Boston.

There was a very interesting little celebration of a semi-public character this afternoon. The Women's Centennial Committee (for 1876) have taken a house on Beacon-st., and filled it with a truly wonderful collection of family relics of the Revolutionary times. This is to be exhibited during the week, and afterwards, for the benefit of the Centennial Fund. It was formally opened at 4 o'clock, and the kindness of old literary friends enabled me to be present. The ladies of the committee crowded the two spacious rooms, where the portraits of their ancestors, painted by Copley and Stuart, looked down from the walls; and the silver and crockery, the swords and samplers, autographs and locks of hair, stood around the walls in glass cases. The Rev. E. E. Hale made a brief opening address, introducing the Rev. Dr. Ellis, whose speech—or rather brief essay—was a model of its kind. It was a picture of Old Boston, and the changes made by a hundred years, delivered with a quiet grace which took away nothing of vividness from the most delicate touches. Then Oliver Wendell Holmes read his "Grandmother's Story" with a dramatic power which effectually disproved the assertion that a poet is not a good reader of his own verses. Like Goethe, he "warmed himself at his own fire," and there were abundant tears in the room when the pathetic close was reached.

I hardly know whether the collection of relics, which entirely fills the house, was more interesting than the company of ladies present. As I turned from the contemplation of Warren's sword and his Doctor's account book, a friend presented me to the hero's stately grand-daughter, who took from her finger and showed me the ring which he still wore in death, on the slope of Bunker Hill. With her came her nephew, a bright youth of fifteen, who enjoys the distinction of having both Warren and Israel Putnam for great-grandfathers. He is to have a place in the procession on Thursday. The families of Adams, Quincy, Winthrop, and Sullivan, were also represented.

I can only mention a few of the most interesting objects. The writing-desk upon which the Declaration of Independence was signed is the most precious. There is a bed-stead of carved mahogany, made for Lafayette; a spinet of the period; family portraits, pierced with bayonet stabs, purposely left unhealed; a fine half-length of Paul Revere, nearly as substantial as a Quentin Matsys; a silver sugar-basket, made by Paul himself; a remarkable sampler, worked by Mrs. John Hancock, containing strawberries and sheep of nearly equal size; and an unusual amount of kitchen ware, from the collection of Major Perley Poore.

The ladies of the committee wore badges and rosettes of Continental buff and blue. The ground-floor, however, was the fairest sight of all. Here some 40 or 50 young ladies, in the costume of 1775, served strawberries and ice-cream to the company. I took the liberty of entering the kitchen, in order not to miss a single face or form of them all. The plain gowns of dark stuff, high white aprons, bosom-kerchiefs and white ruffled caps, with ribbons of the patriotic colors, were a vision of delight! How much younger, fresher, lovelier the ladies seemed than in our modern costume! There was not a gentleman present who did not take away the same impression.

WHEN NOT TO LAUGH.—Unless you would be set down as a vulgar, don't laugh at people's mistakes or misfortunes. There's a time to laugh; but when your schoolmate has slipped down on the ice, and is hurt perhaps; or by accident the fruit-stand at the corner is overturned, and the poor old man's oranges and apples are scattered in the mud; or some lover of a very low quality of fun has pinned a ticket for sale on a person's back as he walks about the street; or an absent-minded lady, thinking more of the poor she is going to visit than herself, has gone out with one boot and one slipper on; or a near-sighted person, whom you never saw before addresses you as Jane or John, and cordially inquires after your grandma, when you haven't any; or the new boarder next door, in a block of a dozen houses all precisely alike, walks familiarly into your hall and comes to a dead stop on the stairs; or the bashful student comes awkwardly upon the platform, and breaks down in an attempt to declaim; or the same sort of sensitive youth, through extreme diffidence, commits in company the very error he was trying to avoid; or whenever anything trying or humble happens to any person—that is not the time to laugh, if you do by others as you would be done by. If you are the person laughed at in any such case consider that, at least, you are a great deal better than those who laugh at you. The too bashful girl or boy almost always turn out better than the too bold. The people who are always right side out in looks and dress and style, are not necessarily by any means the best or the brightest. Nothing more surely indicates good breeding and a large heart than not seeming to notice a blunder, whether of friend or stranger—unless it is by a word or simple act of kindness to show sympathy or render assistance, when this can spare the feelings or lighten a misfortune.—Christian Era.

A bridge is to be built over the Frith of Forth, Scotland, which will be the largest in the world. The height will be 150 feet, and the number of spans nearly 100. The largest span in the center is to be 1,500 feet, or nearly one-third of a mile in width, and the smaller spans 150 feet. It will cost about $10,000,000.

EARTHQUAKE AT SEA.

EXPERIENCE OF THE CAPTAIN AND CREW OF THE SHIP "HAMILTON."

The ship Hamilton, of Boston, arrived at this port early yesterday morning, with a cargo of sugar consigned to H. E. Morening & Co., from Manila. Her commander, Captain Ross, states that at 3 A. M., on June 4th, when in latitude 19° 16', longitude 57°, 51', all on board felt the shock of an earthquake, which lasted fully ten minutes. During this time there was a heavy sea running, and in different places the water appeared to revolve in circles like a whirlpool. When the disturbance first began, the sea was quite smooth, but as the shock increased in violence the water became correspondingly agitated, terrifying those who were on deck and arousing those who were sleeping below. Suddenly the vessel received a shock, as if she had grounded, and a peculiar rumbling noise filled the air. Simultaneously with the shaking, the sky assumed a dull, leaden hue. The atmosphere was also thick and hazy. During the continuance of the shock control of the vessel was completely lost, and the ship refused to obey the helm. There was little, if any, wind at the time, yet the vessel was tossed about as though in the midst of a gale. The captain describes the upheaval of the waves as similar to what would occur if a series of heavy submarine explosions had taken place. The duration of the shock was long enough to enable those who were below to reach the deck and witness the unusual sight. After the disturbance had subsided, the sea again became as calm as before. The vessel sustained no damage, and her cargo appears to be intact, although her 5,000 boxes of sugar were thrown about by the shock.—N. Y. Tribune, June 22.

OREGON DENTAL ASSOCIATION.

The Oregon State Dental Society met at Albany on the 29th ult., the vice president, J. R. Cardwell, in the chair. A general attendance and interesting meeting are reported. The following subjects were discussed at considerable length: "The comparative merits of the different materials used for filling teeth;" "the comparative merits of the different materials used for base of artificial teeth." The following papers were read: "Irregularities of the teeth and correction of the same," by Dr. G. H. Gray; "Operative Dentistry," by Dr. J. H. Hatch; "Neuralgia," by Dr. J. R. Cardwell; all of which were well received and requested by the society for publication. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Dr. J. R. Cardwell; vice president, Dr. G. H. Gray; recording secretary, Dr. G. H. Chance; corresponding secretary, Dr. T. L. Nicklin. The society adjourned to meet at Portland on the fourth Wednesday in June, 1876.

The Daily Oregonian.

MONDAY MORNING, JULY 5, 1875.

WHAT THE INDEPENDENTS PROPOSE TO DO.

We find in one of the ring papers the following remarks on the political situation, which deserve a passing notice:

> The other day the OREGONIAN declared that "there is a general sentiment in favor of putting an Independent candidate for Congress in the field."
>
> This startling announcement rather took the public by surprise, more especially as neither of the regular parties had made any nomination. What could be the urgent occasion for an Independent candidate, when there were no other candidates at all? Might it not be possible that one or the other of the national parties would nominate a suitable person, thus rendering the advancement of a third candidate unnecessary? We have lately been through a considerable portion of the State, and had otherwise large opportunities of becoming acquainted with public sentiment on that subject, and everywhere, and from every source of information, had been led to believe that nearly every citizen of Republican antecedents desired a consolidation of the party. Everywhere we heard the inquiry, "What does the OREGONIAN intend to do in the premises?" the impression being general that if that paper would cease its factious opposition, there would be no difficulty in bringing together the formerly discordant elements, reuniting the party and electing a Republican member of Congress.
> The truth of the matter is, the OREGONIAN has been too precipitate. Its declaration is not true. On the contrary, nearly all those citizens who constituted the Independent party in this State last year, are desirous of returning to their old party relations. This is the case, almost without exception, with such as had been temporarily withdrawn from the Democratic party. They have gone back, and have gone to stay. They are aware that the Independent party has no national organization, and never can have any, and realize the importance of restoring themselves to their old political affiliations in time for the Presidential election next year.

So far as argument or reason for opposing an Independent candidate is concerned, this excerpt would merit no mention, for the question whether the Independents shall bring out a candidate for Congress does not depend in any sense on what the other parties may do. Independent organizations generally have their origin in dissatisfaction with what the other parties have just done; but when they are once fully formed, as in the Independent organization in Oregon, there is no more need afterward for them to wait to see what the other parties are going to do than for the Republicans to wait to see what the Democrats are going to do. Why not both the Republicans and Democrats wait and see whether the Independents will not "nominate a suitable person, thus rendering the advancement of a third candidate," or even a second, "unnecessary?"

But that which merits attention in the extract cited is the statement, purporting to be made upon extensive personal observation in different parts of the State, that the Independents are going back into the old parties. We, too, have been out among the people a little, and we aver that, so far as we have learned, instead of the Independents ceasing to be independent, their numbers are increasing, as people are awaking to the importance of the principle of individual responsibility in the exercise of the right of suffrage. We have neither seen an Independent who talked of going back nor heard the name of one such. It is a habit with the ring papers to say that the Independent organization is rapidly going to pieces, but somehow they forget to tell us the names of the Independents who are asserting it. Why do they not give us names? The above excerpt says this is true of "nearly every citizen of Republican antecedents." It would certainly be an easy thing, then, to present a column or so of the names of such persons, and it would be the strongest possible campaign document. Why not give it to the world? The truth is, the talk about Independents disbanding is all moonshine. They are as firm as they ever were. They have not gone back and are not going. They would like any amount of consolidation with the voters of the other parties, however. They would be glad to have both of the old parties see the folly of their efforts to repress all freedom of individual judgment and conscience by binding the people to support the nominations of party conventions, and abandon them for the higher ground of manhood citizenship. And if both the old parties cannot be brought to that point, the Independents would like, for one, to come to it, and unite with them to defeat the other. They do not hope for this, however. They expect to do just what the others have the right to do, namely, go into the field on their own responsibility and get all the votes they can honorably get from any quarter. And in order to do this, they are going to have out the very best man they can select, believing this to be a race between men rather than between parties, and that the candidate whom the people consider most suitable, all things considered, will win.

SOME OBSERVATIONS BY A RATHER OBSCENE EDITOR, FOR THE ENTERTAINMENT OF AN EDITOR WHO IS NOT QUITE SO OBSCENE.

The editor of the Statesman is terribly nettled by our well meant apology for having been the innocent cause of his last spasm of hydrophobia. We beg his pardon and the pardon of his readers again; for we appreciate the chagrin the readers of the Statesman must experience on seeing these outbursts of bad temper, and the mortification the editor himself must feel after them. When the call was issued for the Independent State Central Committee to meet, the Statesman met it with nearly an entire column of the coarsest scurrility we have ever seen in that paper; which is saying a good deal, surely, for the Statesman, under its present management, has not been a model journal in the matter of tone and dignity, even as Oregon journalism goes. And now the editor takes mortal offense because, instead of descending to the same level and engaging in a ground-scuffle with him in the filth of the billingsgate vocabulary, we chose to treat his epithets with contempt, and to bestow on his idiotic drivel about the connection between the visit of John Hipple and the Independent call, that ridicule which its absurdity demanded. He appears to be troubled with a notion that he ought to be shown the same respect which is accorded to persons who respect themselves enough not to be blackguards, and takes it as a personal affront for the editor of another paper to prefer the language of the parlor to that of the gutter. Just hear him:

> It does not become the rather obscure editor of the OREGONIAN to be affecting patronizing airs in this direction.

"In this direction!" Isn't that modesty's very self? For goodness' sake, what is there in that "direction" to be patronized? The idea is too ridiculous for anything. We should as soon think of affecting patronizing airs "in the direction" of an organ grinders' monkey, as toward the dandiprat of the Statesman.

Passing over a paragraph of personal abuse too low for the columns of a decent paper, we come next upon this morsel:

> It occurs to us that in future when that individual shall have occasion to refer to the Statesman, it will be much in his interests to do so respectfully.

That is good, now, isn't it? It is positively magnificent. Henceforth, when we "have occasion to refer to the Statesman," we must be careful "to do so respectively?" We shall try to "refer to the Statesman" just as it may deserve to be referred to in the future, as we have done in the past; but we can not promise to make any great show of respect for it, for we despise every form of hypocrisy. And we despise equally as much the threat implied in the remark that it "will be much" to our "interest" to take off our hat in the presence of this puffed up nobody.

Gen. Selden Connor, the Republican candidate for governor of Maine, who was nominated with only five dissenting votes out of 500, is a native of that State and comparatively a young man. He entered the army as a private, and returned as a brigadier general, having earned his successive promotions by hard service. In the battle of the Wilderness he received a load of bullets, which he has been carrying around on crutches ever since. Notwithstanding the high confidence which is felt in him by his fellow-citizens, and which was strikingly manifested in the fact that after his name was mentioned for governor, no one else was even suggested—he is now and has been for years a collector of internal revenue.

Kansas, which was seriously threatened with a destructive grasshopper invasion the present season, is now in the midst of one of the heaviest wheat harvests ever known in the State. The yield has been perfectly enormous. The farmers are troubled to get help enough to secure the crop, notwithstanding the improved farm machinery now in general use. This is a remarkably good streak of luck for Kansas. With an abundance of wheat the people can get along if the other crops should be a little short.

The Herald says that Mrs. Beecher shows the wearing effect of her long attendance on the trial. She looks extremely pale and haggard, and presents a woful contrast to the smooth, youthful, and handsome face beside her of her daughter-in-law.

Dr. Dio Lewis, says the New York Herald, whose active and ever fanatical participation in the Ohio temperance crusade will be remembered, has now written a book to prove prohibition a failure.

THE CAMPAIGN OPENED

The Headquarters of both political parties have again by common consent been established at ISAAC BLUM'S Store, which he has elegantly refitted to meet the requirements of the occasion. This place has become the recognized resort of connoisseurs, who pride themselves on the fact that they smoke Blum's Cigars and pay for them.

This card is published for the information of strangers. It is therefore well for visitors from various parts of the State and abroad, as well as San Francisco drummers and such like, to bear this in mind and act accordingly.

Parties desiring Imported Havanna or Key West Cigars by the box will please call before the present invoice is disposed of.

CITY.

OREGONIAN VS. BULLETIN.—Saturday [illegible] ing the long-talked-of rowing match for [illegible] silver cup, between the OREGONIAN and B[illegible] crews, came off in front of the city. [illegible] distance was from LaChapelle's boat hous[illegible] to the foot of Ross' Island, and back [illegible] place of starting. Six o'clock was the [illegible] designated for the boats to start. Mr. A[illegible] Hallock acted as referee and judge. Ab[illegible] hour appointed the OREGONIAN crew w[illegible] their boat and ready for the contest, bu[illegible] some reason, best known to themselves, th[illegible] letin crew failed to put in an appearance. [illegible] Hallock called the race at the appointed [illegible] and no alternative was left the Or[illegible] crew but to row over the course and [illegible] cup. Precisely at [illegible] o'clock the boat st[illegible] the foot of Ross' Island, manned by [illegible] [illegible] crew: [illegible] H. Hill, bow; W. [illegible] [illegible] Fred Waterman, W. [illegible] [illegible] stroke; [illegible], coxswain. Fi[illegible] minutes were required for the boat to r[illegible] and round the stake boat off the foot o[illegible] [illegible] and fifteen minutes and five secon[illegible] [illegible] starting point. The distance [illegible] have been made in much less time, bu[illegible] [illegible] having no opposition, rowed very [illegible] Having complied with all the [illegible] [illegible] of the contest, and the rival crew fa[illegible] [illegible] come to the center—thereby forfe[illegible] [illegible] rights to the prize—the silver cup [illegible] awarded the OREGONIAN crew. It can no[illegible] seen at this office.

DROWNED.—We learn that a young S[illegible] who had been [illegible] the ferry acro[illegible] [illegible] was drowned on F[illegible] [illegible] the afternoon a s[illegible] afternoon [illegible] and the river became [illegible] gale blew [illegible] A little skiff which was attach[illegible] [illegible] the ferry got loose and began to drift [illegible] [illegible] by the ferryman, the [illegible] was thirty or forty yards from the shore [illegible] was being borne rapidly out towards the [illegible] of the stream. Fearing that the boat w[illegible] be lost, and being an expert swimmer [illegible] [illegible] sprang into the water, and made fr[illegible] [illegible] boldly out, and had almost re[illegible] the skiff, was just in the act of [illegible] [illegible] the side of the boat,—w[illegible] [illegible] suddenly sank from sight, and was see[illegible] more. Not a word was uttered, and the [illegible] did not make the least struggle. [illegible] supposed that he was seized suddenly [illegible] cramps and paralyzed. Deceased was a y[illegible] man about 25 years, and was a st[illegible] and [illegible] fellow. We have not l[illegible] to learn his name up to present writing [illegible] body has not been recovered.

INSTALLATIONS.—Thursday evening th[illegible] [illegible] officers were installed in [illegible] [illegible] No. 19, I. O. O. F. for the [illegible] [illegible] A. Jubitz, N. G.; D. CITY.

OREGONIAN vs. BULLETIN.—Saturday evening the long-talked-of rowing match for the cup, between the OREGONIAN and Bulletin crews, came off in front of the city. The course was from LaChapelle's boat-house up to the foot of Ross' Island, and back to the place of starting. Six o'clock was the hour [illegible] for the boats to start. Mr. A. B. [illegible] acted as referee and judge. At the [illegible] appointed the OREGONIAN crew was in their boat and ready for the contest, but for some reason, best known to themselves, the Bulletin crew failed to put in an appearance. Mr. [illegible] called the race at the appointed hour, and the alternative was left the OREGONIAN [illegible] to row over the course and take the [illegible]. Precisely at 6 o'clock the boat started [illegible] the foot of Ross' Island, manned by the [illegible] crew:—C. H. Hill, bow; W. G. [illegible]; Fred. Waterman, W. J. Bowden, [illegible] oar, Ed. Lamb, coxwain. Fifteen minutes were required for the boat to reach and round the stake boat off the foot of the [illegible] and fifteen minutes and five seconds to [reach] the starting point. The distance could [have] been made in much less time, but our [boys] having no opposition, rowed very leisurely. Having complied with all the requirements of the contest, and the rival crew failing to "come to the center"—thereby forfeiting [illegible] to the prize—the silver cup was [awarded] the OREGONIAN crew. It can now be [seen] at this office.

DROWNED.—We learn that a young Swede, [who] has been running the ferry across the [river] at Milwaukie, was drowned on Friday [illegible]. During the afternoon a strong [wind] blew up and the river became quite [rough]. A little skiff, which was attached to [the ferry,] got loose, and began to drift away. [When] discovered by the ferryman, the skiff [was thirty] or forty yards from the shore, and [was being] borne rapidly out towards the middle of the stream. Fearing that the boat would [be] lost, and being an expert swimmer, the [young man] sprang into the water, and made for it. [He struck] boldly out, and had almost reached [it, and was] just in the act of reaching out [his hand] to catch the side of the boat,—when [he sudden]ly sunk from sight, and was seen no [more. Not] a word was uttered, and the ferryman did not make the least struggle. It is [thought] that he was seized suddenly with [cramp] and paralyzed. Deceased was a young [man] about 25 years, and was a steady, [industrious] fellow. We have not been able [to learn his] name. Up to present writing the [body has not] been recovered.

[illegible]—Thursday evening the following officers were installed in Minerva Lodge No. [illegible], I. O. O. F., for the ensuing term: [illegible] A. Jubitz, N. G.; D. Metzger, [illegible]; M. May, Rec. Sec.; L. Wilhelm, Per. [illegible]; A. Bartsch, Treas.; J. H. Scherrer, O. [illegible]; [illegible] Wagner, I. G.; P. Limroth, R. S. N. G.; [illegible] Keller, L. S. N. G.; A. Vigelius, R. S. V. [illegible]; [illegible] Koshland, Warden; C. Wintzingerode, [illegible] On Friday evening D. D. G. M. [illegible] Dolph installed the following elective [and] appointed officers in Hassalo Lodge No. [illegible], I. O. O. F.: James Cummings, N. G.; [illegible] Hartness, V. G.; Andrew Hill, Rec. [illegible]; A. N. Gamble, continued Per. Sec'; [illegible] Sprague, O. G.; A. McKay, I. G.; W. D. [illegible], Warden; Edward D. Backenstos, Con[illegible]; James A. Smith, R. S. N. G.; Thos. [illegible], L. S. N. G.; D. W. Crandall, R. S. V. G.; [illegible] Willoughby, L. S. V. G.; E. H. Stolte, [illegible]; H. Brown, L. S. S.

LEASED—WILL BUILD.—The Turn[illegible] of this city have leased the lot—100x50 [illegible] the southeast corner of Fifth and [illegible] streets, for seven years, with the [privilege] of purchasing the same at a certain [figure] prior to the expiration of the lease. The [committee] appointed to arrange such matters [will have] plans and specifications drawn for [a building] which the society propose to [erect] on the leased ground. The society have [illegible] a snug sum for building purposes, [and it] will soon be built, we have no doubt, [and] suitable in all its details for the convenience of the society and others who may wish to secure quarters in the building.

PASSENGERS.—The steamer Ajax, which [left] San Francisco for Portland on [illegible], brings the following passengers: F. [illegible] and wife, Alex. Dickson, M. Doug[illegible], [illegible] Reyss and family, Mrs. Wm. David[illegible], J. W. Stow, H. C. Wilson, Capt. G. [illegible], [illegible] E. Melton, S. E. Bates, J. Dal[illegible], Rev. G. W. Foote, J. M. Witten and [illegible], Henry Marks, A. Meyer, Mrs. J. A. Gray, [illegible] McCabe and family, B. Jennings, J. O. [illegible]own, D. O. Northup, A. C. Gordon, Mrs. H. [illegible]thal, Wm. Sutherland, E. E. Fence, W. S. [illegible]yer, Miss Mollie Kingsley, and 145 in the steerage.

THE ROD AND THE CHILD.—With the close of the Central school term, in this city, last week came an agreeable surprise to one of the teachers in the shape of the following note: "I have been told that you have [illegible] my boy, Mike, for not obeying orders, [in] school. Please accept my thanks for correcting my boy; also, the enclosed [a dollar] for a good smoker." The teacher, in acknowledging so unusual a communication, [expresse]d the opinion that if there were more [such] parents there would be fewer unruly [boy]s and more good citizens.

NEW PATENTS.—Through dispatches to Dewey & Co., patent agents, San Francisco, we receive the following advance list of U. S. patents granted to Pacific coast inventors, viz: [illegible] L. Merrell, S. F., Cal., paint compound; [illegible] Myers, Marysville, Cal., plow; John [illegible]on, S. F., Cal., carburetter; Horace [illegible], Oakland, Cal., horse-power; J. W. [and] F. Cook, Clifton, Oregon, trade-mark for [illegible] pickled and preserved salmon; G. S. [illegible], Sacramento, Cal., and B. E. Hunt, St. Louis, Mo., trade-mark for anti-friction metal.

FIRE ALARM.—Last evening, a few minutes [past] 9 o'clock, an alarm of fire was sounded. The alarm was struck at No. 3's engine-house, and in a few minutes all the department was [out]. A few fire-crackers, which were thrown [on the] roof of a house standing on the south [side] of Alder street, between Third and [Fourth], caught to the moss with which the [shingles] were coated, and began to burn. Fortunately, some one who was passing saw the [roof] burning, and gave the alarm. The fire was extinguished by a bucket of water.

NO PAPER TO-MORROW.—Editors, printers, and the manager of the OREGONIAN, being as patriotic as the generality of American citizens, propose to celebrate to-day, consequently there will be no paper issued from this office to-morrow morning. The manager of the [telegraph] office informs us that there will be [no news] of importance coming over the wires to-day, so that our readers will not miss much [by] there being no paper issued on Tuesday morning.

AN OLD MAN.—The evening cotemporary says that Mr. McEwan, a patient confined in the insane asylum, is undoubtedly the oldest man in Oregon. According to his own statement he is 112 years of age; while others who have known him for the last fifty years, and who knew his parents while living, state that they are confident he is at least 107.

BISHOP PECK'S APPOINTMENTS.—At the Taylor street church the Rev. Bishop Peck will address Christians at 2 P. M. on Tuesday. Christians' and youths' meeting on Wednesday at 2 P. M. On Thursday evening the Bishop will close his visit.

POSTOFFICE—EXPRESS OFFICE.—We are requested to state that the postoffice in this city will be open to-day (Monday) from 8 to 10 A. M., and for one hour after the distribution of the mail in the afternoon, from 5 to 6 o'clock.

ARRIVED.—On Friday evening the steamer Gussie Telfair arrived at this port from Victoria and Sound ports. She brought 250 barrels lime and 175 tons of lime rock for the Oswego iron works.

PERSONAL.

Hon. B. Whitten, of Canyon City, is now in the city.

Hon. H. M. Daniel, formerly of Minnesota, but more recently of North Yamhill, is in the city.

One of the distinctive features of the celebrated "Creme Polar Soda Water,"—sold only at Pfunder's German Pharmacy—is the "natural fruit syrup dispensed therewith.

REVIVAL MEETINGS.

Services were held by the pastors in their several churches yesterday forenoon. At 3 P. M. a children's meeting was held at the rink, with a fair attendance considering the fact that no notice had been given by the daily papers. Mr. Hammond and Bishop Peck spoke to the children. Bishop Peck said he believed most thoroughly in the conversion of children, and that when they were pleading for them they were to work with the Master and do as He did when upon the earth. Evening services were held at the rink at 7:30, at which time the large building was filled to its utmost seating capacity, and a large number had to remain standing. The services were as usual singing, prayer and reading of the scriptures. After the reading Mr. Bentley said he wished to make a few remarks of a personal nature; that he spoke for himself, and as a representative of the church over which he presides. He said that the attacks made upon Mr. Hammond were a direct personal insult to him and those who invited him here, and also the churches they represent. He believed that Mr. Hammond was a good man, earnest and sincere in his work and desired to do good to his fellow men. Mr. Pierce said that there were some who were trying to read his communication of the other day backwards. I do not believe that it is necessary to go back twenty years in a man's life to find out whether you can associate with and uphold him, but would judge a man by his present life. Two years ago I went to Denver to hear and see howling Hammond, as he was called, and I learned enough then and now to not be ashamed of having put my name to a call for him to come here, nor the company I was in making that call. Mr. Eaton said that from personal knowledge he knew the extract published in one of the Friday's papers was false, totally and unequivocally false. Mr. Hammond said that as to his being run out of Leeds, he never was in the city in his life. Mr. Hammond then took his text and spoke for an hour and a half. The usual praise meeting will be held at the Presbyterian church in the morning, and in the evening, a grand Fourth of July celebration at the rink. Meetings will also be held Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday evenings, at the rink.

EXCURSION TO OREGON CITY.

The second excursion of the revival committee took place on Saturday last, and was even more of a success than the one of the day before to Forest Grove. The steamer E. N. Cooke had been chartered for the occasion. She left her dock at 9 o'clock, stopping at the central dock on her way up, taking on board a large number that were there waiting to get on. About 160 were on board, and as the boat finally steamed on her way, the waters of the Willamette were made to ring with the grand old revival hymns by the joyous throng on board. The time from here to Oregon City was spent in song and prayer. At the landing some little time was spent in singing, when they adjourned to the church. At the commencement there were but few persons out, as it was a surprise to the people there, they knowing nothing about the meeting; but the young men rallied, and went out into the streets, to the saloons and public places, inviting all to come and hear the Word of Life. During the afternoon the church was thronged, seats having to be brought in to accommodate the multitude present, and even then many could not find standing room. The exercises were very earnest, the people seeming to be very desirous of hearing the words of truth. Revs. Mr. Bentley, Chattin, Pierce, Hammond, and Dr. Atkinson, of this city, and Rev. Mr. Huff, of Oregon City, took part in the exercises. The meeting was kept up until the hour of 4 P. M., when the majority of the excursionists returned; but some were so much interested in the work that they remained to assist in the evening meeting that was to take place. A deep spirit of inquiry was manifested, and some professed to have found peace in believing. The excursionists reached this city on their return, well pleased with the result of the day's work.

BALL AND BAT.

The Westerns, of Keokuk, Iowa, have disbanded, and this reduces the list of contestants for the national championship.

Portland vs. Salem (picked nines), for a prize, at Oregon City to-day, commencing at one P. M. This will be the game of the season. Claybourne Walker, of Salem, we understand will umpire the game. The best general players in the two cities are to form the contesting nines.

Nothing to nothing—The first instance on record where neither club could score a run until after the full nine innings were played was in the game between the Chicago and Hartford clubs, on the 19th ult. The first and only tally in the game was made by the Chicago club in the eleventh inning.

Chicago games—The number of games for the championship, up to June 20th, in which nines have been "Chicagoed"—that is, failed to score a run—is 25, something remarkable in the annals of the game. Four of these games were reduced down very fine—1 to 0. The greatest number of tallies made in any one of these games was 24.

A practice game was played on Saturday afternoon between the picked nine which is to be represent Portland in the contest at Oregon City to-day and a number of leading players, in which the picked nine were defeated by a score of 13 to 17. Only five innings were played. The picked nine was short Cushing and Whiting—Holman and Mountain being substituted. Al. Sutherland officiated as umpire.

The championship record to June 21st, inclusive, places the clubs in the following order, showing the number of games won and lost by each: Bostons won 27, lost 2—the Chicago and St. Louis clubs having the credit for the victories over the champions; Athletic won 21, lost 6; Hartford won 21, lost 0; Chicago won 10, lost 5; Athletic won 10, lost 5; St. Louis won 10, lost 5. The Philadelphians, Mutuals, New Haven, Atlantic and Washington are considerably in the rear, though there may be a great change ere the season closes.

BRIEF NOTES.

"The day we celebrate."

A very warm day was yesterday.

Half fare to-day to and from Aurora.

Ho! for Aurora and Oregon City to-day.

During the past week, the Snake river has fallen four feet.

The steamer Ohio will leave Portland for Corvallis on Wednesday morning, at 4 o'clock.

The City Rifles are requested to meet at their armory this morning at 9 o'clock, for parade.

A horse belonging to one of our prominent livery firms, was sold Saturday morning for $500 to a party going to San Francisco.

Tiger Engine Co. received per last steamer from San Francisco, eight beautiful pictures, representing scenes and incidents in the life of a fireman, a fine flag, and a set of excellent torches.

Says the S. F. Call of the 30th ult.: Joaquin Miller, who is now in Philadelphia, writes to a friend in this city that as soon as he finishes superintending the publication of a book he has in press, he will revisit San Francisco.

The British bark Strathedon arrived Saturday morning, consigned to Messrs Corbitt & Macleay, with a full cargo. This vessel belongs to Wm. Thompson Esq., of Dundee, Scotland, for whom Wm. Reid, Esq., of this city, is agent.

The loss by the late burning of the picking house at Oregon City foots up the total of $2,805. The machinery in the house alone was insured to the amount of $1,595, which sum has been lately adjusted by the insurance companies in which the policies were held.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Peter Wilhelm, formerly of the Gem, has opened a neat place at the corner of Ash and First streets, and he calls it the Fountain.

Kohn, the popular clothier will remove shortly to his new and handsome store on Morrison and First streets, which will be fitted up expressly for the business, and he is now offering goods at greatly reduced prices. Note his special card in these columns.

The British bark Stathedon brings as part cargo large invoices of salt, wheat bags, caustic soda, soda ash, ales, &c., for Corbitt & Macleay, which this firm offers to the trade at advantageous prices. They have made special arrangements for the sale of certain brands of imported salt and ales, and can offer rare inducements to the trade. Send in your orders early.

We challenge the world to produce a collar that will keep clean longer, without washing, than the Elmwood.

FOURTH OF JULY NOTES.

The patriotic citizens of The Dalles will celebrate the Fourth by giving a grand ball this (Monday) evening at the Umatilla House.

The game of base ball at Oregon City to-day will attract a large crowd from this city, Salem and elsewhere. At 11 o'clock sharp the steamer Vancouver will leave the foot of Alder street for the above place, arriving in time to take dinner prior to visiting the ball grounds. The steamer will return at 4:30 P. M.

The celebration of the 99th anniversary of the nation's birth day, which took place Saturday at Powell's valley camp ground, under the auspices of the Grangers, was a grand success. A large number was present on the ground during the day. At the conclusion of the customary exercises, the crowd adjourned to the table where a splendid dinner was spread.

The citizens of Aurora and vicinity will celebrate to-day at that place. Hon. R. P. Boise is orator; Rev. J. L. Parrish, chaplain; Hon. J. W. Grim, president; Al. Zieber, chief marshal; Wm. Moreland, Esq., reader of the declaration. Basket dinner will be served on the ground. Music will be furnished by the Aurora brass band. In the evening a grand ball will be given at Pioneer Hall. Arrangements have been effected with the O. & C. R. R. Co. to carry persons to and from Aurora, each way, at half fare. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

Young America began to "celebrate" at an early hour on Saturday evening. From 6 o'clock to midnight the car was constantly greeted with the sharp detonation of firecrackers and Chinese bombs, while at brief intervals were displayed from different portions of the city Roman candles and sky-rockets. No salute was fired, Portlanders having determined to save their powder as well as patriotism until to-day. Yesterday there was a profusion of bunting thrown to the breeze. From every available flag staff proudly floated our own colors, or those of other nations. Conspicuously displayed were the flags of Germany, Prussia, France, England, Ireland, Sweden and Norway, besides numerous shipping signals.

A dispatch from Gervais, dated July 3d, says: "The celebration a grand success. Fine music, oration and dinner. The greatest day ever seen on French Prairie; about 3,500 present." Another dispatch says: "There is an immense crowd at this place to-day. At an early hour they began arriving from all quarters, on horseback and in carriages, wagons and buggies. At the present, there is between three and four thousand people present. In every way the celebration is a grand success, and more than meets the expectations of those who had looked forward to the event as one of pleasure and enjoyment. Hon. John F. Caples delivered the oration, which is highly complimented. During the afternoon there was a parade of the 'Plug Uglies,' and in the evening a grand ball."

To-day the ninety-ninth anniversary of our national independence will be duly celebrated in Portland by the military companies of the city. Promptly at 10 o'clock A. M. the procession will move in the following order, under the direction of Captain Joseph R. Wiley, grand marshal: Portland Band, Washington Guard, Co. A., Emmet Guard, Co. B., City Rifles, Co. C., Portland Light Battery, assistant marshal, band, civic societies, orator of the day, invited guests, citizens in carriages. The procession will form on Third street, right resting on Washington; will march up Third to Morrison, down Morrison to First, down First to Stark, down Stark to Front, down Front to G, up G to Fourth, up Fourth to Jefferson, up Jefferson to Canyon Garden, at which place the exercises of the day will be conducted. At the conclusion of the exercises a grand picnic will be held at the garden. During the afternoon there will be a diversity of amusements, consisting of dancing, target shooting, races, jumping, gymnastic exercises, etc. A grand prize drill will be performed by the several companies for a purse of $100. In the evening there will be a grand pyrotechnic display. Fifty cents admission will be charged to the garden during the afternoon; ladies and children, free. A cordial invitation is extended the various civic societies of the city to join in the procession and participate in the exercises of the day.

ANNUAL EXHIBITION.

CLOSING EXERCISES AT ST. MICHAEL'S COLLEGE—PRIZES AWARDED, ETC.

As is usual at the close of the collegiate year, the second annual exhibition of St. Michael's College was held at the building Friday, attended by many friends and parents of the students; also quite a number of visitors, who seemed extremely well pleased at the satisfactory manner in which the exercises were conducted. A stage was erected in the rear of the hall, and the room was appropriately decorated with evergreens and pictures hanging on the walls.

The forenoon exercises were by the primary and intermediate departments, and the programme, which was creditably rendered, was as follows: "U and I Waltz," E. Norton; song, primary department; examination in reading, spelling and geography; music, school; "Golden Dream Waltz," E. O'Dea; declamations by E. Norton, C. O'Connor, W. Curly, W. Cass and Chas. Carroll; a dialogue, "Boston Boys and Gen. Howe," was rendered in a patriotic manner by the primary pupils; essays by Wm. Raleigh, T. Richardson and J. Walton; music, F. Floed; dialogue, "Choosing Trades," after which came a "Farwell Song," by the school and the audience departed.

Promptly at 2 o'clock the house was again crowded by anxious friends and patrons, to listen to the afternoon exercises, as rendered by the senior pupils. C. Malarkey played a march "600,000," in fine style. Then came the "Opening Address," followed by a song and examination of classes in geometry, algebra, Latin, German, French and other studies. The pupils answered the questions promptly and generally correctly. A piano duet and a song came next, then a drama,—"Sebastian, or the Roman Martyr," was enacted by twelve pupils; Messrs. O'Dea, Malarkey, Floed and Hogan performing their parts with commendable skill and grace, ably assisted by the other performers. The "Sleigh Ride Galop," a piano and organ duet, was very well rendered, as was also the "Telegraph" and "Sweet Hour of Night," a solo and choruses, by the school. Premiums for good conduct and deportment were awarded to Messrs. O'Dea, Malarkey, Hogan, Floed, Whalen, and many other pupils, all of whom were doubtless worthy of them, and justly merited their honors. Mr. O'Dea read an interesting "Valedictory," then a "Hymn to the Pope," was sung. Remarks regarding the start and the future prospects of the college were made by Mr. S. J. McCormick, followed by a touching address from the venerable Bishop, F. N. Blanchet, then the audience was dismissed.

THE COURTS.

U. S. DISTRICT COURT—DEADY, J.

SATURDAY, July 3, 1875.

U. S. vs John A. Carr; motion to set aside order continuing cause to November term denied.

U. S. vs John A. Carr; same order as above. Adjourned till Tuesday next.

STATE CIRCUIT COURT—SHATTUCK, J.

D. K. Halpruner vs B. F. Starr; motion to strike out part of amended answer overruled.

Vancouver Transportation Co. vs Jas. Bybee; writ of review argued and submitted.

State of Oregon vs Moy Coon; sentenced to one year's imprisonment in the penitentiary.

State vs O. S. Phelps; demurrer to indictment argued and submitted.

Albert Blair vs T. A. Wood; judgment for defendant on verdict.

W. H. Musgrove vs S. Haines et al; motion to open judgment argued and submitted.

W. S. Chapman vs H. Watkins et al; plea in abatement dismissed.

John Cason et al vs John Cotter et al; demurrer to plaintiffs' complaint argued and submitted.

AMUSEMENTS.

Mr. Thos. Whiffin, the well known tenor, will be tendered a benefit at Masonic Hall, on Wednesday evening. An excellent programme will be presented, and a large attendance will greet this popular artist on the occasion.

The picnic held yesterday at Canyon Garden by the Turners proved very successful. Forming at their hall in the forenoon, the members of the society marched through the streets, headed by a band of music, to the garden. Music, dancing, and indulging in various games, constituted the sources of amusements during the day. In the course of the day a large number of persons visited the garden. Late in the afternoon the Turners marched back to their hall and disbanded.

During the "heated term" Fabre & Barnes will serve ice cream and other things cooling.

GEO. W. MURRAY, School Clerk.

PORTLAND, July 3, 1875.

We, the undersigned, hereby certify that we have examined the bank book of the school clerk and find the same correct.

J. C. AINSWORTH,
A. H. MORGAN, Directors.

PORTLAND, July 3, 1875.

As JOS. KOHN, the Pioneer Clothier, will shortly remove to his new store, which is being fitted up expressly for the business, he is desirous of disposing of a large portion of his stock to save removal, and offers the public a rare opportunity to purchase at very low prices. His stock of Clothing, Furnishing Goods, etc., for gentlemen and youths, is large, fresh and suitable for the present season. Recollect the place, opposite National Bank, and that you have only a few days to avail yourself of this opportunity to get bargains.

Why will you continue to pay big prices for Clothing while those well known dealers in that desirable article, BECK & WALDMAN, are offering such bargains. The dull times necessitates a great reduction and they propose to keep the public supplied at any sacrifice. Each steamer brings them new goods, and they sell from the entire stock at the reduced rates. Call while the opportunity to buy low is offered. Youths' clothing a specialty.

At The GREAT EASTERN CLOTHING STORE they are offering the finest Clothing to be found in the city, at prices that defy competition. There you can select from the latest styles which are laid in upon the arrival of every steamer from San Francisco. A full line of Furnishing Goods, Youths' Suits, Valises and Trunks constantly on hand. Observe the sign, "Great Eastern Clothing Store," W. HARRIS, Proprietor, 125 First street.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

Ladies who wish to have their own hair braided, made into switches, or worked up into any kind of ornamental work for use or preservation, will do well to call on or send to Mrs. LARSON, Morrison street, between Second and Third. She does all such work very neatly and upon reasonable terms.

COLD LUNCHES.—The oyster season having closed, WALLER & SON, Oak street, between First and Second, will serve Rare Lunches to their patrons at all hours. The OXFORD SALAD DRESSING, their own preparation, is meeting with great favor. Try it.

PLEASURE BOATS.

I have a number of Sail and Row Boats ready at any moment to let at reasonable charges. Boats made to order.

IMPORTANT.—Indorsed by the Medical profession. DR. WM. HALL'S BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS cures Coughs, Colds, Consumption, and all diseases of the Throat and Chest. DR. TOWNSLEY'S TOOTHACHE ANODYNE cures in one MINUTE.

Three Attainable Blessings.

A good appetite, vigorous digestion and sound sleep are three blessings that imply a good many more, and are attainable by the daily use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. The stomach, that is invigorated by that ruling tonic rapidly disposes of the food committed to it, and at the proper time craves for more with natural earnestness, and the brain from which pain and despondency have been banished by that salutary anodyne and cheering cordial, enjoys at the hour of rest that tranquil, dreamless repose for which no other boon that Providence can bestow can compensate. Besides these most desirable results, the entire physique is strengthened and fortified against the attacks of disease by this splendid vitalizer and protective agent, which, take it altogether, is about the most desirable, as it is unquestionably one of the most popular medicines in existence.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry is "a combination and a form indeed" for healing and curing diseases of the throat, lungs and chest. It cures a cough by loosening and cleansing the lungs, and allaying irritation; thus removing the cause, instead of drying up the cough and leaving the disease behind.

JOHN JONES AND I.

We had a tiff John Jones and I,
"You shouldn't leave your cow at large"
"You mend your fence" was his reply
And so ran charge and counter charge

A trifling thing the cow had cropped
Some blades of grass some heads of grain
And yet for this a friend I dropped
And wrought for both a lasting pain

I knew that I had played the fool
Yet thrust my better thoughts aside
And when my blood had time to cool
Became a greater fool through pride

Upon two homes a shadow sate
Two cordial wives grew shy and cool
Two broods of children learned to hate
Two parties grew in church and school

John Jones' pew was next to mine,
What pleasant greetings passed between
As sacred as the bread and wine
Had our communion friendship been.

Oft had our voices swelled the song
Oft had we bowed in silent prayer
And shared the worship of the throng
Who sat in heavenly places there

But how shall souls in exile sing
The Lord's sweet song? The holy notes
Of fellowship and joy and peace,
And pardon stuck in both our throats

Some lessened relish for all good
Made life for both to deaden down,
And nature darkened to our mood,
And answered back our settled frown

One summer eve I sat and smoked
Good Doctor Dean came riding by
He said, in voice a little choked
"John Jones is hurt and like to die!"

A sudden fire ran through my brain
And burnt, like tow, the sophist lies,
And on my heart a sudden pain
Fell like a bolt from hidden skies

I stumbled o'er the threshhold where
My shadow had not passed for years
I felt a shudder in the hand
A woman gave me in her tears.

When he no more the pulse could feel
I saw the doctor turn away
Some mighty impulse made me kneel
Beside the bed as if to pray

Yet not the Maker's name I called—
As one who plunges neath the wave
A swimmer strong and unappalled,
Intent a drowning life to save—

So all my soul's ungathered powers,
In anguish of desire intense,
Sent that departing one a cry
That leaped the abyss of broken sense.

Back to the dim eye came a ray
O'er the white face a faint smile shone.
I felt as twere a spirit's touch
Those stiffened fingers press my own

Oh! resurrection power of God
Which wrought that miracle of pain!
From buried hearts tore off the shroud
And made dead friendship live again!

Beside one grave two households stood
And weeping heard the pastor say,
"That out of death He bringeth life
And out of darkness cometh day

Was I chief mourner in the train?
Ah, who could guess of all the throng
The strange sweet comfort in the pain
Of one who mourns forgiven wrong!

—Charles G Ames in Christian Union

GOOD LUCK.

REMARKABLE INSTANCES OF IT—SHOULDER OF MUTTON THAT MADE A MAN'S FORTUNE—THE REMARKABLE STORY OF BISHOP O'BEIRNE—WHAT CAME OF FIDDLING

"Another maxim," says Sir Fowell Buxton in his sketch of the first Rothschild, "on which he seemed to place great reliance, was never to have anything to do with an unlucky place or an unlucky man" "I have seen," said he, "many clever men, very clever men, who had not shoes to their feet I never act with them, their advice sounds very well, but fate is against them, they cannot get on themselves, and if they cannot do good to themselves, how can they do good to me?" Now, what is luck? Is there really such an ingredient in human affairs as a fortuitous concourse of happy incidents producing that to which we give the name of luck, and do some get it and some fail to get it? There are, we believe, those who assert that there is no such thing, but most are of the Baron's opinion

Not long ago, one of the best known and ablest merchants in New York was engaging a captain Everything seemed satisfactory, and they were on the point of concluding terms, when the captain said, par parenthese, "You know, Mr P, I've been a very unlucky man" The other turned round sharply, "Unlucky! unlucky! then I'm afraid you won't do for me" The negotiation was broken off We have never heard those who attempt to ignore luck explain away certain events which seem unaccountable by no other hypothesis than happy incident Let us give a few cases in point

INCIDENTS OF LUCK

A Mr Green Wilkinson, of London, let an old man into his pew, and that old man left him £7,000 a year for so doing There is a gentleman, well known in New York society to day, who had an acquaintance an Englishman, many years his senior This Englishman always showed a liking for him, and when the American went to London he paid him a visit The Englishman said one day that he wished to make him a little present, and when he opened the check handed to him he found it was for quite a large sum This made him think that possibly he might have a legacy of $5,000 But what happened a few years later? A solicitor in London apprised him that his client had left the American all his American securities, amounting in the aggregate to some $600,000"

And wasn't that pure, unadulterated luck which laid the foundations of the great English historic family of Russell A storm compels a foreign Duke coming to see Henry VIII to put into Weymouth Sir Thomas Trenchard, the principal gentleman in the neighborhood, hastened to proffer hospitality But there's no one to talk to His Highness in his own tongue Happy thought! "My cousin Russell!" Off goes a groom to Kingston Russell, they have their ancient patrimony still. 'For Heaven's sake come over and help me with the Spanish Duke!" Russell comes, fascinates His Highness, is carried to Court, fascinates Henry, gets such a share of monastic and other plunder as subject never got before, nor will again, and dies Earl of Bedford, K G, etc

AN IRISHMAN'S FORTUNE

"Another Irishman," says Dr Croley in his Memoirs of George IV, "introduced to the Prince at this period, was a memorable instance of the power of fortune

This was O'Beirne He had been educated at St. Omer for the Roman Catholic priesthood, and on his way to Ireland happened to arrive one evening at a village inn in England so humble that its whole stock of provisions was but one shoulder of mutton. This he ordered for dinner While it was preparing a carriage containing two gentlemen stopped to change horses. The roasting shoulder of mutton looked and smelled so good and had such a tantalizing effect on their appetites that they agreed the next half hour could not be better spent than in dining But they speedily learned that the only meat in the house belonged to a "young Irish gentleman up stairs" A consultation with the landlady resulted in an arrangement that the mutton should be theirs, but that the young gentleman should be invited to eat with them. But when this solution of the difficulty was propounded to the young Irish gentleman he vowed that no two travelers nor any ten on earth should deprive him of dinner But this menacing message was followed by the appearance of O'Beirne himself, good-humoredly saying that although he could not relinquish the shoulder of mutton to anybody, yet if they would partake of it with him, he would be happy to have their company to dinner The proposal was pleasantly made and pleasantly accepted The party sat down, the bottle went round, none of the three were deficient in topics and before the evening closed the travelers were so much struck with the appearance and manners of their entertainer, then a very handsome young man, and always a very quick, anecdotal, and intelligent one—that they asked him what he meant to do with himself in the world He told his story His destination for the Irish priesthood was immediately set down as altogether inferior to the prospects that might lie before his abilities in English life On parting the travelers gave him their cards and desired him to call on them on his arrival in London We may judge of his surprise when he found that his guests were no others than Charles James Fox and the Prime Minister the Duke of Portland Such an invitation was not likely to be declined His two distinguished friends kept their promise honorably and in a short time O Beirne enjoyed all the advantages of the first society of the empire He was for a considerable time on a confidential footing in the Duke of Portland's family, and much employed in the party negotiations of the time On the occasion of Howe's conciliatory mission to America, O Beirne was sent with him as Chaplain, and in some measure as Secretary, and the Chaplain preached a famous sermon at New York and brought home the only laurels of the embassy On Lord Fitzwilliam's appointment to Ireland, O'Beirne who, it will have been observed, had accommodated his faith to his prospects, accompanied him as first Chaplain and Secretary, with the usual promise of the first mitre, and before many months were over, O Beirne was Bishop of Meath a dignity which gave its holder precedence over all other prelates, with a palace and $40,000 a year And all this from a chance meeting in a country inn where there was only one joint of meat

A SOLDIER'S LUCK

And to take one other example in the same reign In August, 1846, was announced the death of Right Hon Benjamin Bloomfield, Baron Bloomfield, of Redwood and Oakhampton, in the county of Tipperary, G C B and G C H, a Privy Councilor, a Lieutenant General, Colonel Commandant of the Royal Horse Artillery, and Governor of Fort Charles, Jamaica Yet, but for the merest piece of luck, this nobleman would probably at his death have borne no higher title than that of General It was in the palmy days of the Pavilion—that palace of freak painted on Peggoty's work box—that George the Magnificent was bitterly annoyed at the defection of an important member of his violin parties. What was to be done? If a substitute could not be found the quintette could not be performed In the midst of this terrible 'fix' the happy thought occurred to a courtier—who thereby was in blissful ignorance, perhaps, effectually barring his advancement, as Her Grace of Marlborough, when she introduced her poor relation, the wily Abigail Hill, into her royal mistress' service—that there was a young officer then in barracks at Brighton of the name of Bloomfield who was reported to play very well A gentleman was instantly dispatched to command Captain Bloomfield's attendance He came, played, and conquered From that hour the young Tipperary artilleryman was a tame cat in the Prince's household Presently the gazette announced his promotion to be Major by brevet Then he was appointed Chief Equerry and Clerk Marshal, a few years later he was knighted, and became in rapid succession Receiver, General of the Duchy of Cornwall, Keeper of the Privy Purse, and Private Secretary of the Prince For years he continued the most influential person about the court and the dispenser of immense patronage In 1822 he went as Minister to Sweden In 1825 he was raised to the peerage, and meanwhile his military promotion proceeded without interruption His son, the present peer, has held the highest post in the diplomatic service

ANOTHER REMARKABLE EXAMPLE

And, finally, we will clap the climax by the most remarkable example of all, as to how property, now in the possession of the Earl of Elgin, came to that nobleman Years ago two ladies of high position were joint tenants of an opera box in London The occupant of the box opposite was an elderly gentleman, who used to bore them exceedingly by staring at them through his glass until at length his attentions became a joke between them Time rolled on and they had long since forgotten all about their old admirer, when one day a gentleman called at Lord A's house in London and asked to see his sister When she entered the room he said, "Am I addressing Lady Bruce?" She said that he was Then I have a very agreeable and, I imagine, unexpected piece of intelligence to communicate Under the will of Mr Wilson, a former client of ours, you are entitled to a fine estate of several thousands a year The lady said it must be a mistake She knew no one of the name But said the solicitor, no identification could be clearer Then a thought struck him Mr Wilson, he said, lies near by, in his coffin at Mr Benting's, the great undertaker, in St James' street Perhaps you would not mind going with me and looking at his face She went There was her old enemy with the lorgnette Not the least remarkable part of the story was that he had intended to leave the fortune to the other lady, who was the special object of his admiration and who he had been told was Lady Bruce

After these instances it is hard to believe that there is no such thing as luck

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,
For all the purposes of a Family Physic,

CURING
Costiveness Jaundice Dyspepsia Indigestion Dysentery Gout Stomach and Breath Erysipelas Headache Piles Rheumatism Eruptions and Skin Diseases Biliousness Liver Complaint Dropsy Tetter Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms Gout Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill and Purifying the Blood, are the most congenial purgative yet perfected Their effects abundantly show how much they excel all other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take but powerful to cure They purge out the foul humors of the blood they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organ into action and they impart health and tone to the whole being They cure not only the every day complaints of every body, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most skillful physicians most eminent clergymen, and our best citizens send certificates of cures performed and of great benefits they have derived from these Pills They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar coated they are easy to take and being purely vegetable they are entirely harmless

Ayer's Ague Cure,
FOR THE SPEEDY RELIEF OF
Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

℞ Has been widely used during the last twenty five years, in the treatment of these distressing diseases, and with such unvarying success that it has gained the reputation of being infallible The shakes, or chills once broken by it do not return until the disease is contracted again. This has made it an accepted remedy, and trusted specific, for the Fever and Ague of the West, and the Chills and Fever of the South.

Ayers Ague Cure eradicates the noxious poison from the system and leaves the patient as well as before the attack. It thoroughly expels the disease, so that no Liver Complaints Rheumatism Neuralgia, Dysentery or Debility follow the cure Indeed where Disorders of the Liver and Bowels have occurred from Miasmatic Poison, it removes the cause of them and they disappear Not only is it an effectual cure, but if taken occasionally by patients exposed to malaria it will expel the poison and protect them from attack Travelers and temporary residents in Fever and Ague localities are thus enabled to defy the disease. The General Debility which is so apt to ensue from continued exposure to Malaria and Miasm has no speedier remedy

For Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy

NEW REMEDIES! NEW REMEDIES!
Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

623 KEARNEY STREET, COR. COMMERCIAL San Francisco. Established in 1854 for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from his visit to the principal Hospitals of Europe, and has resumed practice at his Dispensary, 623 Kearny street corner of Commercial San Francisco, where he can be found by those requiring his services may [illegible]. The Doctor has spared no time nor money in seeking out new remedies, and has returned with increased facilities for the [illegible] suffering.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands [illegible] with male or female [illegible] existence [illegible] indulgences, or from [illegible] Look at their pallid emaciated [illegible] broken-down constitution [illegible] the happiness of [illegible] enjoyment of life, In this horrid [illegible] closes the scene [illegible] guardians friends, attend to those [illegible] with any of these horrible, life [illegible] that they can be cured for [illegible] immediate [illegible] made [illegible] study for [illegible] and very [illegible] without [illegible] drugs. Dr. Gibbon will give One Hundred Dollars for a case he cannot cure, or will prove infallibly to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks

Married Men,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are laboring under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them, nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DR. GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who, with bogus sworn to certificates, deceive the unwary Some of the self-styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen and became too lazy to work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, cooks, carriers, intelligence office keepers, &c. The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many [illegible] as advertising physicians [illegible] are so bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people [illegible] titles, certificates, pretended [illegible] Dr Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat diseases that he [illegible] to cure.

Cured at Home.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME by addressing a letter to Dr Gibbon stating symptoms, length of time the disease has continued and have medicines [illegible] forwarded, free from damage and curiosity [illegible] part of the U. S. with full and plain directions for use by [illegible] Dollars coin, in registered letter through the Post office or through Wells, Fargo & Co., a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the Union.
